

My constitutional rights as an American are beign violated with the Patriot Act, and by giving the government complete access to all of my internet communication puts even more power in the government and away from the people, which is the opposite of what this country stands for.